GUIDELINE TITLE

BOARD DECISION – Death of Appellant Pending Appeal

GUIDELINE #8

When an Appellant passes away while their appeal is still pending, the Board will continue with the appeal process and make a determination on the daily residential charge based on the evidence presented during the hearing. After establishing the appropriate charge, the Board will compare the current rate with the rate from the previous year. In its decision, the Board may apply the lower of the two rates. For new residents, however, the Board may apply the current minimum rate.
