Attention: Technical Review Committee

In response to the letter received by Mr Garrioch march 25, 2017 I would like to clarify the two operations Mr Garrioch is referring to. The first operation (Porcherie Notre Dame Ltee) located 1.75 miles south is the site in the technical review stage.

The second operation (Porcherie Lac du Onze Ltee – Treherne site) just north of Mr Garrioch is the site where Mr Garrioch worked a few years ago. We would like to do a building expansion there in the future but would not require a technical review since the animal units would not increase. This will be accomplished by discontinuing the majority of the nursery and finishing and adding sows only therefore the lagoon will not require an expansion.

As for the risk to Mr Garrioch's water supply, there have been no issues to date and the barns have existed for 15 and 22 years respectively. We continue to handle the manure as a valuable fertilizer for crop production including injection in the soil. I hope this addresses the concerns in Mr Garrioch's letter.

Attention: Technical Review Committee

In response to Mr Rheault's letter dated march 27 2017 I would like to clarify that the site in the technical review process is Procherie Notre Dame Ltee which is a 10,000 head site and not 20,000 as indicated in the letter.

The manure produced at this operation is injected into the soil as a fertilizer for crop production. During the injection process odours increase and depending on several factors the smell can last from a couple days to a week or more as indicated by Mr Rheault. We encourage the surrounding grain farmers to harrow their fields as soon as possible after injection to minimize odours and nitrogen loss.

Although not part of the TRC mandate I would like to point out that myself and my partners are very involved in our local communities as volunteers and financial supporters. Our companies combined employ in excess of 35 people and purchase local products and grains in the millions of dollars. We started in the pork industry nearly 25 years ago as a way to support the local economy and that remains our #1 priority still to this day. Thank you.
